

UNIUNEA NAȚIONALĂ A BAROURILOR DIN ROMÂNIA

SCRISOARE DE RECOMANDARE

The National Union of the Romanian Bars (U.N.B.R) is the official representative organism which, through its lawyer members, promotes and defends the rights, liberties and legitimate interests of the citizens of Romania. We believe that our endeavor is being constantly doubled through the action of various non profit associations among which the “Judicial Science Association” stands out as an active and efficient contributor.

Through the “National Institute for the training of Lawyers”, an organism under the authority of the UNBR Council, we have been actively involved as partners in several projects initiated by the “Judicial Science Association” and it is in this capacity that we strongly recommend them.

The “Judicial Science Association” has proved, from its’ very beginnings, that it understands the importance of professional training for practitioners in the judicial system. They have thus been constantly preoccupied with cultivating a judicial education based on continuous learning. Their efforts have also been aimed at improving the system by facilitating the interaction and communication between professionals and all non-judicial parties involved.

The projects, conferences and round tables that they have organized in partnership with UNBR have benefited from a consistent participation of lawyers from all over the country, proving their important role in the Romanian judicial sphere. In all this time we have come to understand that the “Judicial Science Association” is a very organized, united and pro-active collective, with a high quality management.

We appreciate their project, “Increasing the available knowledge on the New Civil Code - www.codulcivil.ro” as both a valuable and necessary one. Preparing the judicial community for the implementation of the new codes represents one of the main directions of both our short and long term strategies. The understanding of the new codes is so important that we are currently implementing a training program especially tailored for the assimilation of their provisions. In this context, we find the initiative of the “Judicial Science Association” as an invaluable help to our endeavors and we hope that their project will be accepted.

It is for all the above mentioned reasons that we confidently recommend the project of the „Judicial Science Association”: „Increasing the available knowledge on the New Civil Codes - www.codulcivil.ro”
